Fourth Sunday of the Great Fast - St. John Climacus

Our Venerable Father Benedict of Nursia (547)

Great Fast Day 28. The Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great is celebrated today.

Troparia and Kontakia

Troparion, Tone 8: You came down from on high, O Merciful One,* and accepted three days of burial* to free us from our sufferings.* O Lord, our life and our resurrection,* glory be to You.

Troparion, Tone 1: O John, our God-bearing father,* you were shown to be a citizen of the desert,* an angel in bodily form,* and a worker of miracles.* Through fasting, prayers and vigils you received heavenly gifts* to heal the sick and the souls of those who, in faith, run to you.* Glory to Him who gives you strength.* Glory to Him who crowned you.* Glory to Him who works healing for all through you.

Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, now and for ever and ever. Amen.

Kontakion, Tone 4: On the heights of true abstinence,* the Lord established you as a reliable star,* giving light for guidance to the ends of the earth,* O father John, our teacher.

Prokeimenon, Tone 8

Pray and give thanks to the Lord our God.

verse: In Judea God is known; His name is great in Israel. (Psalms 75:12,2)

Prokeimenon, Tone 8

verse: The venerable ones will exult in glory* and they shall be joyful in their beds. (Psalms 149:5)

Epistle

Hebrews 6:13-20; Ephesians 5:9-19

Brothers and sisters, when God made a promise to Abraham, because He could swear by no one greater, He swore by Himself, saying, "Surely blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply you." And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise. For men indeed swear by the greater, and an oath for confirmation is for them an end of all dispute. Thus God, determining to show more abundantly to the heirs of promise the immutability of His counsel, confirmed it by an oath, that by two immutable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we might have strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us.

This hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which enters the Presence behind the veil, where the forerunner has entered for us, even Jesus, having become High Priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

Alleluia, Tone 8

verse: Come, let us rejoice in the Lord; let us acclaim God our Saviour.

verse: Let us come before His countenance with praise and acclaim Him with psalms. (Psalms 94:1,2) verse: They who are planted in the hose of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God. (Psalms 91:14)

Gospel

Mark 9:17-31; Matthew 4:25-5:12

At that time, one of the multitude came to Jesus, bowed before Him, and said, "Teacher, I brought You my son, who has a mute spirit. And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth, and becomes rigid. So I spoke to Your disciples, that they should cast it out, but they could not."

He answered him and said, "O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him to Me." Then they brought him to Him. And when he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

So He asked his father, "How long has this been happening to him?"

And he said, "From childhood. And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us."

Jesus said to him, "If you can believe, all things are possible to him who believes."

Immediately the father of the child cried out and said with tears, "Lord, I believe; help my unbelief!"

When Jesus saw that the people came running together, He rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it: "Deaf and dumb spirit, I command you, come out of him and enter him no more!" Then the spirit cried out, convulsed him greatly, and came out of him. And he became as one dead, so that many said, "He is dead." But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose.

And when He had come into the house, His disciples asked Him privately, "Why could we not cast it out?"

So He said to them, "This kind can come out by nothing but prayer and fasting."

Then they departed from there and passed through Galilee, and He did not want anyone to know it. For He taught His disciples and said to them, "The Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of men, and they will kill Him. And after He is killed, He will rise the third day."

Hymn to the Mother of God

In you, O Full of Grace, all creation rejoices: the angelic ranks and all the human race. Sanctified temple and spiritual paradise, virgins' pride and boast, from whom God is made flesh and became a little Child; and He who is our God before all ages, He made your womb a throne, and He made it wider than all the heavens. In you, O Full of Grace, all creation rejoices. Glory be to you.

Communion Hymn

Praise the Lord from the heavens;* praise Him in the highest. (Psalm 148:1)* The just man shall be in everlasting remembrance;* of evil hearsay he shall have no fear.* Alleluia, alleluia,* alleluia. (Psalm 111:6)

The end is at hand, my soul, is at hand! But you neither care nor prepare. The time is growing short. Arise! The Judge is at the door! Like a dream, like a flower, the time of this life passes. Why do we bustle about in vain? (Fourth ode of the Canon of St. Andrew)

AS WE SAW IN CHAPTER TWO, the central theme of Lent is repentance. This theme is at the heart of one of the best-loved texts of Great Lent, the Great Canon of St. Andrew of Crete. This text is heard during the first week of Lent as part of Great Compline, in which an extract of the Canon is chanted each day. In the middle of the fifth week of Lent, the Canon is chanted in its entirety.

The Canon is a dialogue between the Christian and his soul. The central theme is the urgent exhortation to change one's life. Thus the Canon is repeated in its entirety toward the end of Lent. If by now we have not begun to repent, then now is the time.

The Church knows that repentance is not easy. Even the holy author of the Canon is persistently reminding himself of his lack of repentance, striving to persuade himself to change his ways. The Church invites us to make his words our own. It is never too late to repent, as we are reminded in the Paschal Sermon of St. John Chrysostom:

Have any wearied themselves with fasting? Let them now enjoy their payment. Has anyone labored since the first hour? Let him today receive his due. Did any come after the third hour? Let them feast with gratitude. Did any arrive after the sixth hour? Let them not hesitate: for there is no penalty. Did any delay until after the ninth hour? Let them approach without hesitating. Did any arrive only for the eleventh hour? Let them not fear because of their lateness: for the Lord is generous and receives the last as the first: He gives rest to the worker of the eleventh hour as to those of the first. He has pity on the latter, He cares for the former. He gives to the one, He is generous to the other. He accepts the work done, He welcomes the intention. He honors the achievement, He praises the purpose. (The Paschal Vigil Service)

Yet the time for repentance is ever at hand. We are urged not to put it off any longer. At the beginning of Holy Week we hear the hymn:

Behold, the Bridegroom comes at midnight, and blessed is the servant whom He shall find watching. And again, unworthy is the servant whom He shall find heedless. Beware, therefore, O my soul, do not be weighed down with sleep, lest you be given up to death, and lest you be shut out of the kingdom. But rouse yourself, crying, "Holy, holy, holy are You, our God." (First troparion of Matins, Great and Holy Monday)

This hymn is based on the parable of the ten virgins (Matt. 25:1–13), which is a parable about the readiness of the soul to meet its Maker: "Behold, the bridegroom is coming; go out to meet him!" (Matt. 25:6).

In the Canon of St. Andrew, we are reminded that death is always at the door, and Christ, the Bridegroom of the Church, is near. Are you ready to meet Him? "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matt. 3:2).
